I have created an original, relevant illustration for the front cover of the bag and included the author's name and any special awards or recognition (ie. Newberry Award) (*use blank white paper and colour the illustration fully. Glue this to the front of your bag/container)	Monday, May 4th
I have drafted a summary of the characters, setting and conflict in the story. (Three short paragraphs.) My writing is original and not copied from the summary on the novel.	Tuesday, May 5th
I have neatly printed or typed out the summary on white paper so that it fits the width of the paper lunch bag or other available bag/container.	Wednesday, May 6th
I have added text features such as headings and mini illustrations to the summary. *Glue your good copy to the back of your bag/container.	Wednesday, May 6th
I have found 2 objects that help to represent meaningful elements of the story and placed them inside the paper bag.	Thursday, May 7th
I have created 6 objects that help to represent meaningful elements of the story and placed them inside the bag.	Thursday to Tuesday, May 7-12
I have filled out the list of objects and their meaning in the table in the project description handout. *Take a photo of this table and upload it to the Paper Bag Project activity in FreshGrade.	Wednesday, May 13
I have recorded a video of myself presenting the novel, the story summary and the 8 objects.	Thursday, May 14
